U. S. TROOPS WILL REMAIN IN MEXICO

Not a Chance That They Will be Withdrawn, Gen. Funston Says—Force Still Pushing Southward.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Antonio, Tex., April 10.—"There's not a chance of the American troops being withdrawn from Mexico."

This was Major General Funston's comment today when he was told of official reports that Carranzista leaders declared Francisco Villa had escaped into Durango and that the United States forces would therefore have to leave the country. Funston said that, judging from all he had heard from Washington, the hunt for Villa would continue.

Latest official advices said that Col. Wood and Col. Brown were pushing southward from Satevo and Cusihuicatan respectively, the advance cavalry screen having already passed Parral.

We are still going south," said General Funston. From Columbus the American commander received word that the guard over the lines of communication in northern Mexico had been strengthened during the last three days by the dispatch of additional American forces. Trenches have been constructed at strategic points along the supply route, and General Funston is so satisfied with the situation from a military standpoint that he sees no reason for shifting his headquarters from San Antonio.

General Funston was indignant today over the demand of the citizens of Del Rio that the negro troops be withdrawn owing to a clash with Texas Rangers and replaced with white soldiers. He said that the soldiers at Del Rio had been sent there in response to a hysterical plea for protection, that they could well be used in Mexico and that there was no possibility of sending white troops to replace them.

A STOLEN WATCH LED TO ARREST

Three Strangers Arrested Sunday Morning by Detective Goodsell—Thought to Have Stolen Watch in Newburgh—No Evidence Produced and They Were Discharged.

Saturday morning some one stole a gold watch from a room in the hotel of Captain Thomas Murphy in Newburgh and three guests at the hotel who had left town were arrested here on Sunday by Detective Goodsell of the West Shore railroad on a charge of train riding. The theft was reported and an alarm was sent out. Detective Hillman of the West Shore force learned that the three men who had stopped at the hotel were seen stealing a ride on a train coming north and a general alarm was sent out. Sunday morning Detective Goodsell spotted the three strangers and placed them under arrest. A search of their clothing failed to reveal the stolen watch.

They were arraigned before Recorder Lang this morning and gave their names as Dennis O'Hara, William H. Grant and Harry Jennings. They said they had stopped a few nights at the hotel in Newburgh, but denied strenuously that they had entered a room and stolen a gold watch. Captain Murphy was present in the court room and pointed out one of the men who he said his daughter had seen come out of the room from which the watch was taken.

The one accused said that he had not been near the room. The other two also denied taking the watch and said they knew nothing of it. There being no evidence produced sufficient to hold the three the recorder gave them an hour to get out of town.

ACTION TAKEN BY BAR ASSOCIATION

The Ulster County Bar Association held a meeting at the court house Saturday evening for the purpose of taking action regarding the death of Girard L. McAllister and George R. Adams, who deaths occurred recently.

Judge Jenkins, president of the association, presided, with D. G. Atkins as secretary.

The following resolutions were adopted.

At the meeting of the Ulster County Bar Association, held on the 12 day of February, 1916, the committee appointed by the president to draft a suitable minute on the death of Girard L. McAllister reported the following.

The sudden death of Girard L. McAllister came as a severe shock not only to his brethren in the profession but to the community at large.

Mr. McAllister was born in this city on the 20th day of July, 1872, he was the son of the Reverend Francis Marion McAllister then the rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, his mother was Anna Lindsey, daughter of the late James G. Lindsey, in his time one of our most distinguished citizens and the first mayor of this city.

Mr. McAllister's family connection was indeed a notable one, he was a descendant of the Marion family of the south of which General Francis Marion of revolutionary fame was a member; he was a grandnephew of Julia Ward Howe; a nephew of Hall McAllister, a distinguished lawyer of California whose fame is perpetuated by his statue, and McAllister Street named from him, in San Francisco; he was also nephew of Ward McAllister, a foremost leader of New York society, and a cousin of K. Marion Crawford the eminent novelist.

Mr. McAllister, after taking the usual course in the public schools of this city, attended and was graduated from Princeton College with a mathematical honor. With a cultivated mind, supplemented by the advantages of extensive travel and wide reading, he was a delightful companion, and his ready wit and quaint humor made him a welcome addition to any society.

Although admitted to the bar and maintaining a law office and warmly interested in everything that pertained to the legal profession, whether through natural diffidence or indisposition to struggle and strife, he never entered actively in the forensic arena confining himself to the quiet of an office practice.

While he was liked by his brethren in the profession and was popular in society generally, he was beloved by those who knew him best and by them his memory will always be warmly cherished.

HOWARD CHIPP, EVERETT POWLER, FRANK W. BROOKS, Committee.

The death of George R. Adams, an advanced age, removes from our midst one who, in the days of his active practice, was a prominent member of the Ulster County Bar, one of the lawyers of the last generation, who materially aided in creating and upholding the high standard and reputation of the Ulster Bar, and a man of exemplary habits and intellectual attainments.

To all his professional work he gave prompt and careful attention, and prepared his cases in such a thorough, painstaking and exhaustive manner as to make him a dangerous antagonist at the bar.

His long career at the bar was characterized by unflinching industry and persistent energy, and in his vocabulary there was no such word as defeat, as he frequently turned what to others would seem defeat into a victory.

Resolved, that the members of the Ulster County Bar tender to the family of the deceased their sincere sympathy in the loss they have sustained.

WALTER N. GILL, H. H. FLEMING, FREDERICK STEPHAN, JR., Committee.

GAIN AND LOSS.

County Hotel Population Increased and Then Decreased.

On Sunday evening the population of the city was increased by one while the county boarding house at 1818 Wall street lost one of its boarders. Shortly after nine o'clock Sunday evening the stork, which had been hovering over the county hotel, alighted long enough to leave a son to Daisy Krum, who had taken up her home there for a few months.

Dr. O'Leary was summoned by Jailor Seth Jocelyn and also the city ambulance which conveyed the Krum family to the Benedictine Sanitarium where medical treatment may be given.

Daisy Krum is one of the women committed to the county jail by Recorder Lang a few weeks ago when one of the red lights of lower Broadway was extinguished by the local police officers. Daisy's mother is still at 1818 Wall street where she will continue her enforced vacation for some time.

HE IS UNCERTAIN ABOUT MARRIAGE

Mr. Beesmer Informed Recorder That He Did Not Know If He Was Married or Not—He and Connelly Arrested Charged With Being Disorderly—Both Discharged.

Saturday evening about 10 o'clock Under Sheriff Hornbeck was accosted by two men on Wall street who asked him the way to North Front street. He informed them, and then one of them asked him for a match and the sheriff replied that he had none and the man replied, "Don't get fresh, give me a match or we will take one away from you." Mr. Hornbeck thereupon arrested them and locked them up in the county jail. This morning they were arraigned before Recorder Lang. The under sheriff charged them with being drunk and disorderly.

When arraigned they said their names were Grant Beesmer and David Connelly and that they lived on Hurley avenue. Neither was drunk according to their story. Mr. Beesmer said he had had but three beers all day and Mr. Connelly confessed to drinking five or six beers.

"Are you married?" the court asked Mr. Connelly.

"No sir," he replied.

"Are you?" queried the recorder, turning to Mr. Beesmer.

"I don't know," he replied.

"You don't know—what do you mean?" asked the court.

"Well," said Mr. Beesmer reflectively "I was married, but I don't know whether my woman is dead or whether she ain't."

Both men informed the recorder that they had jobs waiting them and on their promise to climb aboard the water wagon they were discharged.

VOTED FOR WICKS.

Ulster Committeemen Supported the Opposition to Chairman Tanner.

The vote by which Frederick C. Tanner was re-elected chairman of the Republican state committee in New York city on Saturday stood 82 for Tanner to 63 for State Senator Charles W. Wicks of Oneida.

Lafayette B. Gleason, the competent secretary of the state committee, who has filled the position acceptably for many years, was unanimously re-elected. State Committeemen Philip Elting of this city and Frank J. Lefevre of New Paltz voted for Senator Wicks.

The committee adopted unanimously the following resolution which was offered by Senator Ogden L. Mills:

"Resolved, that the committee, in confidence of the country's anxiety for a return of the Republican party to power, urges the National Convention, and especially the delegates from New York, to select as our candidate for president, a tried Republican, in whose record and character the nation can rely as a guarantee of wise statesmanship in the management of foreign and domestic affairs."

Senator Mills stated afterward that the name of Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States Supreme Court could be read into the resolution, and no one else. State Chairman Tanner declined to make any declaration as between Justice Hughes and Former United States Senator Elihu Root.

BURGLAR ALARM SAVED THE DUCKS

After Exciting Chase Thief Caught—He Attempted to Kiss Owner of Ducks, But Was Repulsed—Sentenced to 60 Days in Jail.

Sunday morning about four o'clock Mrs. Anna Gill of No. 69 Chambers street, heard the tinkle of the burglar alarm bell attached to her chicken coop, and hastily arising she dressed and within two minutes after the bell rang had set off in pursuit of the thief whom she saw emerge from the coop with two of her prize ducks under his arm. After a chase through the streets she finally cornered the thief who turned and when he saw who was chasing him he attempted to embrace her with his free arm, the other being actively engaged in holding the ducks, and made an unsuccessful effort to kiss her.

All this was brought out when Mrs. Gill appeared before Recorder Lang this morning to press the charge against Metro Hauselman, whom she accused of stealing her ducks.

She said that when Metro tried to kiss her she said "Get away from me," and pushed him aside.

She asked Metro what he was doing with her ducks and according to her story he replied "If I knew the ducks belonged to you I would not have taken them."

She recovered the ducks and restored them to the coop and later in the day secured a warrant for the arrest of Metro, charging him with petit larceny.

Metro denied that he had stolen her ducks or any one else's ducks. He has been arrested before. In 1913 he was arrested charged with stealing a pair of shoes, but the complaint was withdrawn by his paying for them.

Recorder Lang sentenced him to sixty days in the county jail.

CREAMERY GETS BIG NEW YORK CONTRACT

After Thorough Inspection by Health Department Representative, Kingston Milk is to Sell at 10 Cents in New York City.

A very thorough and complete inspection of the Kingston Milk Producers Creamery on Downs street, has just been completed by Charles A. Donovan, of the New York city health department, for the purpose of granting a license to the creamery to sell milk in New York city. A contract has been made with N. A. Vanson, an independent dealer, whose customers are in the section of West End avenue, and desire a particularly high grade of milk, pasteurized, bottled and sealed in the country, for 120 cases daily, being 1,200 bottles.

The new pasteurizing and clarifying plant of the creamery was tried out for the first time, Mr. Donovan being greatly pleased with its completeness. Every part of the work and process from the receiving of the milk from the dairymen, the sterilizing of his cans after they had been pumped into the weighing tank, the pumping to the clarifier, then into the pasteurizer, where the milk was heated and held, then run through the cooler into the filler and capper, which completes the operation, was gone through with success. Mr. Donovan was greatly pleased with the operation because during the whole operation no hand comes into contact with any part of it, the milk being handled automatically. The temperature of the milk when received was under 50 degrees, that being the temperature as it passed into the pasteurizer, it taking twenty-five minutes to fill it. In thirty minutes the revolving coils had raised the temperature to 142 degrees, required by New York city, it was then held at that temperature for thirty minutes, and then started on its way through the large cooler, as the milk passed into the filler it was found to be 35 degrees, twelve degrees lower than is required. The milk was tested both before and after being treated.

To those who had never seen milk handled in this manner, it was a great surprise, as the difference was almost unbelievable. Milk at its best, in a raw state, is not very clean, being much worse than people generally know about, but after clarifying and pasteurizing it is perfectly clean and pure. The flavor of the milk was greatly improved, while the cream line showed up much better than it did in the raw state.

The inspector made careful inquiries as to the standing of our local veterinarians who examine the herds of the dairymen, the methods of inspection of the local health officer and sanitary inspector and rules of the board of health, and stated that he would recommend to the New York city board of health, that it would be absolutely safe to accept their certificates of examination, inspection and scoring.

One of the stipulations with the New York dealer is that the milk shall be of the same quality and character as sold to the people of Kingston. The cans are to be marked "Grade A Milk Pasteurized, bottled and sealed by the Kingston Milk Producers Creamery, at Kingston, N. Y." He takes all the milk that can be spared from the Kingston trade, supplies his own bottles, cases and caps.

The New York inspector stated that although pasteurized milk had been required in New York city for the past three years, a superior quality of Grade A has been difficult to obtain, because of the low price paid to the dairymen for their milk, they were not, as a rule, scoring high enough to permit it. He believed Kingston was fortunate in the dairymen receiving a price high enough to encourage them to put in the equipment and apply the methods sufficient for the Grade A score, thereby securing a better quality of milk, than if discouragingly low prices were paid.

The Kingston Creamery milk will sell for ten cents a quart, in New York city, while our own people will only pay eight cents a quart for it.

Train Rider Discharged.

Daniel Feldman was rounded up on Sunday by Policeman Murphy charged with train riding. It was thought that he was one of the three men suspected of being mixed up in the theft of a gold watch at Newburgh. Later the three men suspected were caught. This morning Feldman was given an hour to get out of town by Recorder Lang.

APRIL SNOW WENT QUICKLY

Heavy Snow Fall on Saturday and Sunday Melted Almost as Fast as it Fell—Central Hudson Boats Running—Old Almanac Fine Weather Prophet.

Saturday the first real snow storm in April started falling that afternoon and continued to fall throughout the night and Sunday morning when the sun broke through and the warm rays of Old Sol caused the snow to quickly disappear.

The weather caused an old boatman to remark today that he had been following the weather predictions in an almanac that he had secured at a drug store downtown and he found that so far "it had hit the weather off to a T." He then consulted the almanac and found that the snow storm on Saturday and Sunday had been predicted and that a cold wave was on its way and would reach Kingston within the next two weeks. Considering the fact that many householders have allowed the heater to go out for the season that is not very cheerful information dispensed by the almanac.

The steamer Ramsdell of the Central Hudson line is now back on the Rondout route and from now on the line will have a bat out of Rondout daily. The Odell will leave this port every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11 o'clock in the morning while the Ramsdell will run at the same time on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week. It is expected that the Martin will also shortly go into commission.

The steamer Tremper of the Central Hudson line made its first trip of the season today reaching and leaving Rondout this morning for Albany.

With the Shilliput of the route between Rondout and Slighsburch today foot passengers were ferried across in a small boat while vehicles were forced to go around by way of Edenville. The ferry has been taken to Hilt-brant's to be overhauled and will be back on the route again as soon as the work is completed.

DISHES FOR DAILY MENU.

Few people appreciate the value of the banana as a dish served with meat as a vegetable.

Loosen the skins from the fruit; but do not remove them, place in a hot frying pan and cook until the pulp is very soft. Remove the skins, sprinkle with sugar and a drop or two of lemon juice and butter, and serve with steak. Sliced and sauteed in butter, the banana is also good, seasoned with a little lemon juice.

Fricassee Eggs.—Cook two table-spoonsful of butter with one and a half table-spoonsful of finely chopped green onion, and the same amount of mushrooms also chopped. Add one and a half table-spoonsful of flour and pour on gradually one cupful of white stock. Add five hard-cooked eggs cut in slices.

Deviled Tomatoes.—Wipe, peel and slice crosswise three tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper, roll in flour and cook in a hot pan in a little butter. Cream a fourth of a cupful of butter, add two table-spoonsful of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, the yolk of a hard-cooked egg, one egg slightly beaten and two table-spoonsful of vinegar. Cook over hot water and pour hot over the tomatoes.

Roast Beef.—For a portion of one rot, onion and sprig of parsley, all minced in three table-spoonsful of butter with a bit of bay leaf. After five minutes add three table-spoonsful of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of paprika. Add a cupful of chicken broth, strain, reheat and add four hard-cooked eggs cut in eighths lengthwise. Add a half cupful of cream and a grating of nutmeg just before serving.

Apfel Schmarren.—Make a thin batter of two table-spoonsful of milk, one table-spoonsful of flour, a beaten egg seasoned with salt and slice into this a large apple. Have a teaspoonful of hot fat in a frying pan, pour in the batter and fry brown. Serve with powdered sugar.

IS THERE A DRIFT FROM THE CHURCH?

On Sunday evening Dr. Ellis, pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, considered the answers of the men of Kingston to his question, "What in your opinion is the chief cause of religious indifference and drift from the church? Can the church be dispensed with? Ought it to be?"

Dr. Ellis said that a few while answering other questions failed to answer this one. One answered "I do not know." That three questioned the fact of any such drift, one submitting a clipping that told of the vast increase of the churches in the last decade. That this put the responsibility of such drift upon the churches, because of the teaching of miracles, the miraculous conception, the immaculate conception, etc. One finds nothing in the church to interest the modern man.

Seven find the difficulty in home and church discipline, and lack of discipline in public schools, one saying that "the men responsible for the church's teachings and support are good without being virile, narrow not progressive, superstitious not scientific, cloistered not of the throng. The church does not reach the masses where they are, the church of yesterday, always; the church of tomorrow, never."

Eighteen find the trouble in modern conditions, the attractions of wealth and pleasure, the automobile, quantities of reading matter, cards, theaters and the natural inclination of unconverted unspectacularly minded men, one saying "the main cause of religious indifference is ignorance of the basic rules of human conduct." All agree that the church ought to be dispensed with and cannot be without ruin to civilization and morals.

In review of the answers which were presented in full, Dr. Ellis said there is a drift from the church, which is far greater. The church is a going institution and cited statistics to show the vast increase of all the churches in America during the last decade, in increase more rapid than the population and a vast increase of investment for self support, as well as for every missionary and philanthropic enterprise, the Presbyterian Church increasing its contributions for self support from $17, 000,000 to $26,100,000 a year and its missions gifts from $3,000,000 to $2,500,000.

There is a drift from every good institution. There is a drift from the lodges, there is a drift from the army and navy of the United States by desertion and there is a drift from the family and family relationships indicated by desertions and divorces. The church is not peculiar in the loss of members by defection. It is very necessary that we should understand what the church is. It is not in the first place a moral or a social institution. The church is first and always a spiritual institution. It is the body of Jesus Christ and represents Him and His teaching in the world.

It is moral because God is moral and the author of all law, physical, vital and moral. As to the teaching of miracles and its relationship to progressive thought, the scholars of the church recognize the fact that the Bible is a product of oriental minds and reflects oriental imagery rather than occidental logic, the oriental coloring being particularly evident in the Old Testament.

Yet the church is founded on the divinity of Jesus Christ, the efficacy of His atonement for sin and the fact of His resurrection. Christ said that His spirit would convict the world of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. The church has received this spirit and this mission in the world. It is the church, the called out, self-disciplined, worldly-mindedness, pleasure seeking as the supreme thing can find no comfortable place in the church. Those who submit to such rule will drift from the church.

One asked that there might be degrees in the church, men believing in miracles in the first degree and men believing in the moral teachings of Jesus Christ in the second degree, etc. There are degrees of Christians allowed. Anyone acknowledging Jesus Christ as Lord and accepting the Bible as the rule of faith and morals may be a Presbyterian. Acceptance of all the doctrines of the church is not required of the individual member, but the acceptance of the authority of Jesus is absolutely necessary.

All who answer the questions agree that the church ought not and cannot be dispensed with. The church is imperfect, its members and its ministry are imperfect because it is composed of those who are in the process of spiritual growth. It is like an army that must do its work while it is being organized and disciplined. No one realizes the imperfections of the church or of the ministry more than its own members. Now if the church is necessary for morality, for civilization, for the good of man here and for his hope hereafter, why not every right minded man get behind the church and help; help make the church what it might be and ought to be?

spring gown may be easily copied. The seven ruffles are edged with narrow lace, and the pelum of the waist folds into an elongated drape forming a front panel. A bertha collar finishes the surplice, which takes a crushed girdle of cornflower blue taffeta.

TABLE LINEN.

Hints About the Keeping of Your Favorite Fad.

"Table linen must be properly handled in the laundry if you would have it retain its freshness," says Marie Strong. Bleaches must never be used on fine table linens. Of course the linen is often badly spotted and needs to be cleaned in some way, but boiling water removes coffee spots, cold water removes cocoa stains and sunshine removes many more spots. When strong or agents must be used they should be applied and removed by intelligent hands.

They should be allowed to remain on the spots just long enough to eradicate them and then rinsed thoroughly out with clear water, for if they remain on too long they remove not only spots, but pieces of the linen.

For fruit stains pour boiling water through them while the stains are damp, if possible. If they dry on rub them with hard and put through the usual washing process. Some old fashioned housewives have their table linen dipped in buttermilk to whiten it. The linen is allowed to remain in the buttermilk for a day or two, if necessary, and is then thoroughly rinsed in cool, clear water and later in warm water.

Always dry linen out of doors in the sunshine. If possible have a little bleaching green of grass. Table linen must be quite damp when it is ironed, and it must be ironed until it is perfectly dry. Napkins should be ironed on both sides and a tablecloth, too, to give it the best appearance.

Physical Fitness Woman's Big Asset.

No woman nowadays can afford not to be well.

Ill health—even mere "delicacy," with no positive manifestation of disease—costs too much. There is the obvious, direct expense of doctors' bills and medicines. But indirectly you pay a much higher price for not being well. If you are a wage earner four lost time and energy, due to a lack of physical strength, must also be computed in lost dollars.

Poor health will interfere constantly with your social good times. It will mar whatever beauty you may possess sooner than any other cause. If you are a wife and mother illness and weakness will interfere with your duties and the comfort of those dear to you. Whatever your station in life you will find that the role of invalid and weakness is no longer fashionable or popular. For awhile you will have the sympathy of your friends, but the best of them will be bored with you sooner or later. They can't help it. A worship of physical fitness is in the air, and instead of whining and pitying yourself you must bend all your energies to the task of becoming well.

Cinnamon Rolls.

When it is desired to mold bread for baking take one loaf on a molding board, roll out to nearly a quarter of an inch thick, spread quickly with butter, brown sugar, white sugar and cinnamon. Roll up and cut off one and a half inch pieces. Have considerable melted fat in a dripping pan and dip the top of each piece into the fat. Allow them to rise until after the rest of the bread is baked, so that the rolls may be very light. They should be baked from twenty minutes to half an hour.

Very Ancient British Grave.

An ancient British stone flagged grave has been discovered near Greenlaw, Scotland, consisting of four large, flat stones. It contained only a little fine dust. The dimensions indicate that it belongs to the period when men were buried in a sitting position.

Quaint taffeta shoulder capes are shown in fascinating colors and trimmed with odd little ruffles and ruckings. Often hand embroidery is used instead of the ruffling. Particularly charming is a cape of this type when developed in the same material as one's frock, in which case it lends a finishing touch to the outfit. Worn over an afternoon gown such a shoulder cape proves both smart and effective. Both the hat and cape shown here are in soft brown tone.

MISS MACKAYE TO RUN COL. DU PONT'S HUGE PAGEANT FOR CLUBWOMEN.

Backed by the open purse of Col. T. Coleman DuPont, millionaire powder manufacturer, who hopes to be president next year, the Women's Congressional Union will present on or about June 3, next, the greatest outdoor pageant ever given in America.

The guests will be the 10,000 delegates to the biennial convention of the American Federation of Women's Clubs, in session here from May 23 to June 2.

They will be conveyed by special train to Great Neck, L. I., where the adjoining estates of Col. DuPont, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and Mrs. Preston Chamberlain will be thrown open.

Col. DuPont, through his wife, will pay not only the expenses of the special trains and the decorations but of a collation for the army of visitors. KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 10, 1916.

Many American pacifists possess provincial views which need revision. They either regard the United States as a country whose "boo" will send armed military scurrying homeward or else they are controlled by a sweet persuasion of their own that the "uplift" will come along and furnish protection which will be ample for them to continue undisturbed the activities of their little world. The danger of this brand of Americans is their innate ignorance and selfishness, which masquerades under cover of an expressed intolerance of any views which conflict with their own, the latter in many cases having self-interest as their basis. They write and groan at the thought that humanity should be encouraged in the savage practices of warfare but ignore the fact that Nature herself is constantly eliminating the weakling through a continual battle between all her creatures, whose only objective, so far as man has discovered, is the survival of the fittest. Man cannot ignore Nature's laws without suffering the penalty. The ancient battle between man and beast to determine survivorship has been succeeded in large measure by a battle against disease, against the sins of other men, and against the forces of Nature which are inimical to man's welfare, but through it all man has continued to wage war against man. According to Apostolic writers wars shall continue to the end of the world. Under the teachings of Nature or the Evangelical Apostles wars shall not cease because of mere man's say-so, and both Nature, the Apostles and common sense unite in teaching the doctrine of preparedness. The trouble with the pacifists is that they adopt the lesson of preparedness in too narrow a sense. Like Bryan, they are for peace at any price—provided they get the price.

Lecturers, business men, travelers of all sorts, to say nothing of the host of easy-chair strategists, have been busy since the European war began telling people the significance of this or that movement by each of the warring powers or explaining the reason for failure to execute maneuvers in which they had faith. Real students of military tactics have been less willing to express their opinions than the professional publicist and the reason for their silence is probably due to the fact that they are unwilling to take long-distance chances with an unfamiliar subject; they may have much more information of what is transpiring in the war zone than anyone else, but the information at hand is so meagre that the genuine strategists realize their limitations. The war offices of the belligerents are fully informed of the conditions, but they confine themselves to statements of actual occurrences, their official communiques in most cases being brief. Listening to men who are not acquainted with the subject matter of their talk may be a pleasant pastime to people of leisure who are easily pleased, but, aside from accomplishing no practical result, such talks tend to disseminate a quantity of misinformation which in the cold light of facts makes the best efforts of the Busy Street Liar puny by comparison.

The habit of talking against time is not confined to war discussion. Not a subject of human knowledge escapes the attention of the professional talkers, who are not limited by sex, race, creed or opportunity. They sit from place to place if they have acquired a reputation, or from individual to individual if their reputation is limited, diffusing their wordy eruptions alike on the just and the unjust, the able and the ignorant, the student and the sloth. Thinking men and women enjoy such performances because of the seriousness with which the speaker is surrounded and is regarded, but finally the performance palls and they betake themselves to the quiet field of facts, finding keener enjoyment in the companionship of knowledge than in the frothy fuming of misinformed but arrogant garrulity, whether the latter be either of the misanthrope or uplift type. A little more thought and a little less talk would go a long way toward making a better race and would create a state of mind which would be far more susceptible to the problems of daily life than the condition of agitated uncertainty which demands that every question shall have full and free discussion whether the speakers are competent to talk understandingly or not. The Constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech never should be abrogated, but the continual tongue-wagger ought to seek development of a sense of the relative importance of men and things before talking publicly. Cultivation of a sense of humor also would be of assistance in curing the over-talking habit. The talk of the man who knows should but does not always receive the attention it deserves.

The general cry is against ingratitude, but the complaint is misplaced; it should be against vanity; none but direct villains are capable of wilful ingratitude; but almost everybody is capable of thinking he hath done more than a Jer deserves, while the other thinks he hath received less than he deserves.—Pope.

PASTOR SNYDER GOES TO MADISON

Popular and Successful Lutheran Clergyman Accepts Call to University Church in Capital City of Wisconsin.

The Rev. Howard E. Snyder, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Wurts street, on Sunday notified his congregation that his resignation would be handed to the church council this evening, the same to take effect the last Sunday in April. Pastor Snyder has been called as the University Students' pastor at Madison, Wisconsin. He will take up his duties at the University of Wisconsin the first Sunday in May.

Mr. Snyder came to Kingston eight years ago from Wildwood-by-the-Sea, N. J. He found the local congregation in comparative obscurity. In eight years he doubled the membership, so that today over seven hundred members are in good standing. The present parsonage was bought and renovated and the beautiful new church built. The church is one of the finest church buildings in the country or along the Hudson river, and is the only church of the county with a complete set of chimes.

When Pastor Snyder came the congregation was non liturgical. He introduced the Church Book and the full liturgical service of the Lutheran Church. He also organized the Young Men's Brotherhood, one of the most wide-awake and progressive church organizations in the city. The parish has been rebuilt and thoroughly organized. It is today "one" of the most prominent Protestant congregations in the city of Kingston. Mrs. Snyder, the pastor's wife, is a worker of untiring zeal and energy.

Outside of his congregation Mr. Snyder is widely known in New York state. He has often been called to speak before conventions and various social and fraternal gatherings. The city of Kingston will miss him because of the active part taken in all that pertained to the public welfare.

Pastor Snyder is intensely patriotic. He served as a volunteer in 1898, served two terms of enlistment in the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and for the past four years has been chaplain with the rank of captain of the 10th Regiment, N. G. N. Y. His comrades in the guard will be sorry to see him go, as he has been a popular chaplain, well liked by officers and men.

Pastor Snyder is prominently connected with a number of organizations, religious and civic, of a national character. His time has been much occupied with work extending far beyond the bounds of his parish.

Mr. Snyder has had several flattering calls while located in this city. This call is a highly important one and he feels it his duty to follow. He is a man peculiarly fitted to mingle with and lead young men. His work at Madison, Wis., will be among university students, as the congregation is predominantly composed of professors and students. The family of Gov. Phillips of Wisconsin will be members of his new parish. The salary will be more than double his present income.

Chaplain Snyder does not intend to become unpatriotic or disinterested in national preparedness. Upon his location in Wisconsin he will be appointed chaplain of the First Cavalry Regiment, N. G. W. Pastor Snyder was born and reared in the middle west. He knows the plains and is at perfect ease in the saddle. His congregation is loath to part with, but they realize that he cannot be held this time. His many friends in the city and this part of New York state will greatly miss him, as he is a man who makes friends easily and is a ready mixer on all occasions.

Madison, Wisconsin, is called the Andover of the northwest. It is one of the most beautiful cities in that region of the country, the capital of the state of Wisconsin, and the seat of the state university. Last year Wisconsin had nearly 8,000 students in attendance. The city is built between two beautiful lakes, on the north Mendota on the south Monona. The new state capital, which is not yet completed, will be the finest of its kind in the country. It is modelled after the national capitol at Washington. Madison is a great industrial, educational and railroad center, wide-awake and progressive along all lines.

Optimistic Thought.

HANDY HUSBAND

"I know one dish I can prepare for breakfast as well as any cook on earth," said my husband one morning when the cook was ill and he had volunteered to help get breakfast. He appeared with his dish and I discovered it was Grape-Nuts which, of course, was easy to prepare for it was perfectly cooked at the factory, but it was a good illustration of the convenience of having Grape-Nuts about. "We took up Grape-Nuts immediately after returning from a five years' journey in a hot country. Our stomachs were in bad condition and we were in poor health generally. "In a day or two we liked Grape-Nuts better than any other kind of food on the table. We both gained steadily in health and strength, and this was caused by Grape-Nuts and Postum."

"A friend of ours had a similar experience. She was seriously ill with indigestion and could find nothing to eat that would not give her heartburn and palpitation, especially at night. "She found that a small dish of Grape-Nuts with cream made her a satisfactory supper and gave her a comfortable night's rest. In a short time she gained several pounds in weight."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Illustrated Flower Lecture.

Among the many interesting lectures which the people of Kingston have been privileged to listen to during recent years, the one about to be given by Herbert W. Faulkner, under the patronage of the Lister Garden Club, stands alone as the only one dealing with the subject of "Flowers." This is a subject which is dear to the hearts of children and adults alike, for who does not love flowers? Mr. Faulkner, who is an artist as well as a noted botanist, adds to the attractiveness of his lecture by giving the title of "The Mysteries of the Flowers," wherein he tells of the visits of the bees, the butterflies, the moths, etc. This lecture will be illustrated with some most remarkable colored charts of the flowers, and with colored lantern slides. Though dealing with a technical scientific subject, Mr. Faulkner uses the fewest possible technical terms, thus bringing his lecture within the understanding of all lovers to flowers. He has given this same lecture before the Garden Clubs of Lenox, Ridgefield, and Greenwich, and has also lectured for Stamford Woman's Club, Wells College and the Erie (Penn.) high school. This lecture will be given at the Kingston high school on Wednesday afternoon of this week at 2:15 o'clock in the auditorium. School children will be charged ten cents admission and adults twenty-five cents. For the purpose of encouraging the house garden work of the school children, who can procure their tickets at the schools. Twenty-five cent tickets may be purchased at Burgesons, ore, Forsyth & Davis, Charles Warratt's and the Connelly drug store, downtown.

Winters-Snow.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Snow on Down street was the scene on Saturday of a quiet home wedding, when, at noon, their daughter, Miss Laura Snow, became the bride of Frederick Comstock Winters of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hugh F. Hobson of Ellenville, a lifelong friend of the bride's family. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charming in a going-away gown of dark blue tulle, and carried a brilliant bouquet of lilacs-of-the-valley and sweet peas. There were no attendants. Palms, ferns and pink and white roses and carnations decorated the home, palms and great pink and white rhododendrons forming the background for the bride and groom. Following the receiving of congratulations, a wedding luncheon was served by Mrs. Daley. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Snow of Scarsdale, Harold Snow of New York, the Rev. and Mrs. Hobson of Ellenville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winters and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Winters of Nassau, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Winters of Poughkeepsie. The bride, who is a Kingston Academy graduate of the class of 1913, and a charter member of the Kikuit Club, is one of Kingston's winsome daughters who has a host of loyal friends. The groom, who is well known throughout the section of country, also has a large circle of friends, all of whom wish Mr. and Mrs. Winters a long life of married happiness. During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Winters left by auto for a wedding journey that will include Washington, D. C., and other points of interest. On their return they will make their home at No. 221 Clinton avenue.

Spendthrift Symphony Program.

The program to be given by the Kingston Symphony Orchestra at its coming concert on the evening of Tuesday, April 25, at the Kingston opera house, will be one of unusual charm and interest to all who enjoy music and also to those who take pride in a artistic achievement at Kingston men and women. Mrs. J. Irving Wood of New York city, formerly Miss Pauline Hendricks of this city, will be the soloist playing Schumann's masterly Concerto in A Minor with the orchestra. Mrs. Wood has already received the most favorable criticism as a piano soloist from New York critics and among her many musical friends here in Kingston. But this is the first time that she will be heard with an orchestra in this her home town. She has been especially happy in her choice of the Schumann Concerto, which is counted among the great masterpieces of this form of music. In a criticism of this work, to be found in the Boston Symphony Orchestra Bulletin, one reads: "The experienced hand of the master is everywhere visible—the skill of him who understands how to give his instrument an irresistible expression and to control that expression with an irresistible effect." Those who have attended rehearsals of the orchestra find that the musicians are bringing to this work much of the same affectionate regard that they give to Schubert, whose music they play so well. In fact, to mention the requests sent in, that the orchestra will play one movement of the Schubert "Unfinished" Symphony as their repeated number at the concert. The symphony to be given at this concert will be Haydn's great Symphony in C Minor, one of the world's greatest symphonic works. While not as long as some of the symphonies, its claim to greatness lies in the rare beauty of the themes and the perfection and solidarity of its form. Single tickets for this concert may be purchased of members of the orchestra, or by addressing Mrs. C. N. Reed, No. 41 Crown street, secretary of the Symphony Society. As the number of patrons and subscribers is larger than usual this year, and the seating capacity of the opera house is not quite that of the high school auditorium, it will be well for those wishing single tickets to purchase the same in advance.

At a meeting of women interested in the equal suffrage movement, held at Wilby's Inn on Saturday afternoon last, Mrs. Searing made of some of the details of suffrage work in this vicinity and asked for a courteous reception of the women who will make a house to house canvass to ascertain the number of women in Kingston who desire the vote and the number who are against the movement. Mrs. Searing then introduced Dr. Thelberg, of the Vassar College faculty, and resident physician at Vassar. Dr. Thelberg, who is possessed of a most winning and wholesome personality, told of two great suffrage meetings which she had attended. The first of these meetings was held in old Chickering Hall, New York city, in 1888, and to it the speaker had the privilege of being conveyed by the late Maria Mitchell. It was indeed a memorable occasion, for among the notable women on the platform, beside Dr. Mitchell, were Julia Ward Howe, who was then in the zenith of her power, presided; Susan E. Anthony, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. M. Wright and well and others. While the auditorium was by no means crowded, the meeting was marked by serious enthusiasm. The other meeting was held two years ago, shortly before the outbreak of this European war, in the National Theater at Rome, Italy. This meeting came at the close of a ten days' council of women suffragists from England, Ireland, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Brazil, Chili, Hungary, Austria, France and the United States. The great National Theater was packed to the utmost limit, there being a large attendance of men, who stood, filling the aisles. An old lady, a French duchess of the old school, most gracious and yet dignified, presided. Dr. Thelberg then told gracefully, with many an illuminating anecdote, of the women of the world. One given by the widow of an English bishop was remarkable, because an apparently slight derogatory remark about the military suffragists of Ireland called forth deafening hisses, where Dr. Thelberg admitted that an American audience might have applauded. Through the tact of the presiding officer, and a quick witted turn of the remark, the widow of the bishop was permitted to finish her address and finally won heartiest applause. "The other address was by a young French lawyer, who in her robes proved herself to be an orator and probably quite unconscious a prophet, for she closed her address by saying, apropos of the then existing conflict with Tripoli: 'If you want to go on fighting, do not forget to be slaughtered.' In closing Dr. Thelberg strongly advocated the woman's suffrage. The service of a afternoon tea followed the talk, a collection being also taken for the good of the cause.

SAVED HER FAMILY.

Climax to the Fearless Fight of a Plucky Spider.

Crossing a field one day, I came upon a large female spider of the hunter family carrying a round white sack of eggs half the size of a cherry attached to her spinnerets.

Picking a long stem of herb's grass, I detached the sack of eggs without bruising it. Instantly the spider turned and sprang at the grass stem, fighting and kicking until she got to the sack, which she seized in her strong jaws and made off with it as fast as her rapid legs would carry her.

I laid the stem across her back and again took the sack away. She came on for it again, fighting more fiercely than before. Once more she seized it, once more I forced it from her jaws, while she sprang and bit at the grass stem to annihilate it.

The fight must have been on for two minutes when by a regrettable move on my part one of her legs was injured. She did not falter in her fight. On she rushed for the sack as fast as I pulled it away. The mother in her was rampant.

She would have fought for that sack, I believe, until she had not one of her eight legs to stand on had I been cruel enough to compel her. It did not come to this, for suddenly the sack burst and out poured a myriad of tiny brown spiderlings.

Before I could think that mother had rushed among them and caused them to swarm upon her, covering her many deep, even to the outer joints of her long legs—so deep that I could not now have touched her with a needle except at the risk of crushing the young.

I stood by and watched her slowly move off with her increasing family to a place of safety.—Dallas Lore Sharp in Atlantic Monthly.

STANFORD HEIR SAYS MOTHER AND JUDGE PLOTTED AGAINST HIM.

New York, April 10.—Walter Lathrop Hanson, grand-nephew of the late United States Senator Leland Stanford, (founder of the Stanford University in California), and heir to $500,000 of the Stanford millions, in an affidavit on file today in the supreme court, charges that his mother, Mrs. Aimee Lathrop Hanson, of Brooklyn, and her attorney, former Judge Nash Rockwood conspired to have him declared incompetent and had him exiled to Canada as part of a scheme to deprive him of his inheritance.

The remarkable allegations of young Hanson were made in his affidavit filed in connection with the suit of his wife, Mrs. Henrietta Reutti Hanson, for $100,000 damages against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Aimee Lathrop Hanson, for the alleged alienation of the affections of the young husband.

Young Hanson married Henrietta Reutti, in Newark, on November 5th, 1912, when he was about twenty-two years old. He is now twenty-six. The marriage followed an elopement while Miss Reutti was singing in vaudeville.

Hanson is now employed as a chauffeur in California.

Birds and Glass.

It has been frequently noticed that no wild bird can understand the properties of glass, and great numbers, ranging in size from a pheasant to a titmouse, are killed by flying against the windows of country houses.

If a room possesses a large mirror reflecting the view seen through an open window birds are particularly liable to be deceived, and especially if frightened, into thinking that they can fly through it.

Sparrow hawks will sometimes chase their intended victims into strange places. Some years ago a member of this species pursued a small bird through the open window of a railway carriage in motion. In its blind determination to secure the panting fugitive it entangled its claws in the meshes of the hatrack and was ignominiously slain by an astonished passenger with an umbrella.

Causes and Effects.

If man was to judge of causes by their effects there would be no small causes in the universe. In a nature where everything is connected, where everything acts and reacts, moves and changes, composes and decomposes, forms and destroys, there is not an atom which does not play an important and necessary part; there is not an imperceptible particle, however minute, which, placed in convenient circumstances, does not operate the most prodigious effects. If man was in a capacity to follow the eternal chain, to pursue the concatenated links that connect with their causes all the effects he witnesses . . . he would find that they are true atoms which nature employs to move the moral world.—Hobbes.

The Inwardness.

"Please, ma'am," said the small boy on the doorstep, "ma says kin she borrow a can of mustard."

"Certainly," replied the housewife. "Is mamma going to make a salad?"

"No, ma'am," declared the voracious child, "but pa said she gave him a pain in the neck, and she wants her sock a plaster on to him."—Browning's Magazine.

Fixing the Reward.

"What do I get for this stunt?" asked the haggard amateur.

"You get nothing from me for it as a manager," replied that individual, "but if I were a magistrate as well you'd get sixty days."—Baltimore American.

Consoling.

"What did you say your age was?" he remarked, between dances.

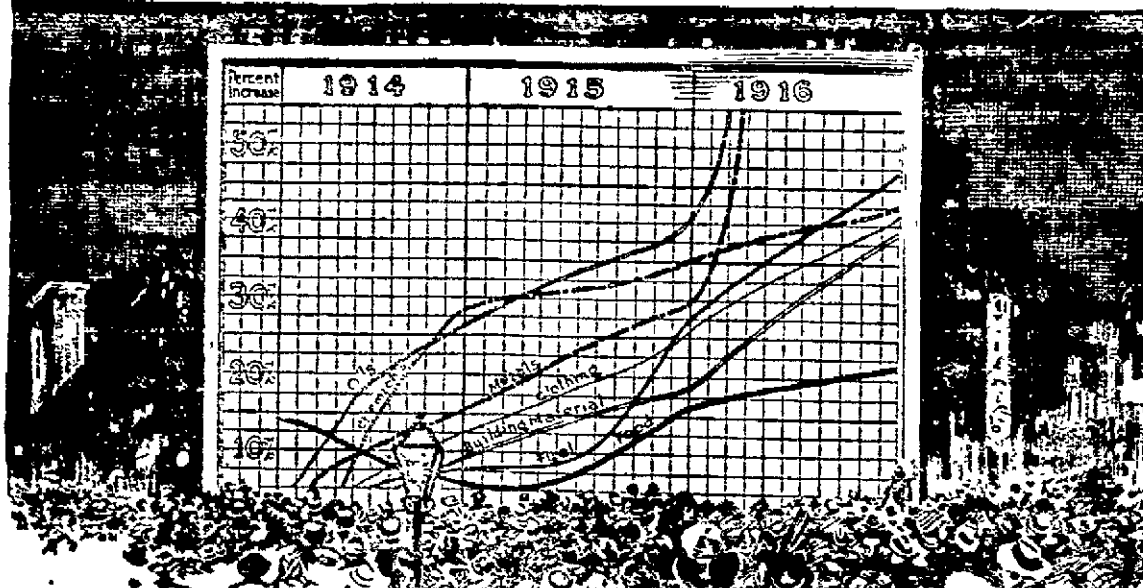

"Well, I didn't say," smartly returned the girl, "but I've just reached twenty-one."

"Is that so?" he returned consolingly. "What detained you?"—Penny-vania Punch Bowl.

His Merits.

"We object to the young man who is courting our daughter because he is a shoemaker."

"Why, a shoemaker is the best sort of a man, because he is usually whole, soled and well heeled."—Baltimore American.

Rising Costs confront everybody!

This is an era of ascending costs, a period of price advancement without parallel. No statistical chart is needed to prove this—the effect of higher prices is felt by everyone, and is of real concern to all. It is a time for thoroughly weighing values, a time for taking advantage of every opportunity that offers a genuine saving.

See the Men-UP CERTAIN-TEED Roofing by the name, which is conspicuously displayed on every roll or bundle. Look for this label.

Certain-teed

Roofing

lowers the cost of building

CERTAIN-TEED offers a substantial saving in roof construction, at this or any other time. It costs less to buy, less to lay, less to maintain and less per year of life. Because of tremendous production (the General makes one third of all the roll roofing made in America), and because of economies effected by enormous resources, modern machinery and favorably located mills, the General is able to make the best roofing at the lowest cost.

CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is the General's own product—from the raw materials to the finished rolls, it is made in the General's huge mills. It is made of the best quality roofing felt, thoroughly saturated with the General's own blend of soft asphalt and coated with an impervious covering of harder asphalt. This keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying out process so destructive to ordinary roofing. That's why CERTAIN-TEED outlasts other roofing. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply. Experience proves that it lasts longer.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers everywhere at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)
New York, April 10.—Philip Van Gilder Carter is the golfing sensation of America. He is only 19 years old, yet his home is cluttered up with trophies that have come to him through his link prowess.

"If Carter keeps his head during the next few years he has a chance to become the greatest golfer of all times."

That's what the experts say of him now, and in the same breath they tell you that his equal as a junior golfer never has flashed across the horizon.

Carter's most recent achievement at Planchurst, N. C., where he won the St. Valentine and other matches from a field of stars, simply add to his glory as a link wizard. Those attainments at the North Carolina resort sort of as the real tests for the youthful wonder. He met some of the best men in America. And he beat them. In so doing, he convinced the skeptics of his amazing skill at the Scottish game.

Beat Veterans When 14.
Carter comes from a golfing family. His inherited skill made itself apparent when he still was a knickerbocker youth. The summer home of his parents was near a links and Carter spent his vacation days driving and putting, and perfecting himself in every department of the game.

In his own neighborhood he became known as a fine player, but it wasn't until five years ago that the world at large heard about him. And then it learned so much at one time that it is still gasping.

At the age of 14 he entered the Shinnecock Hills Club tournament. When he made his appearance at the first tee, for his first game, it provoked wonderment—and merriment. The spectacle of a small boy competing against grown-ups was laughable. Everyone laughed—but it was a short ja-ha.

His first opponent, was Joseph S. Clark, the Philadelphia crack. Clark was very much perturbed over the fact that he had drawn a boy as his rival. What sort of trick were the folks playing on him? Putting him against a boy was something of an insult. Clark resented the "unfair matching" but finally went ahead with the contest.

And Carter, the scoffed at 14 year old, doled out to the Quakerstown veteran one of the severest drubbings he ever received in his long career.

Fame Becomes National.
What happened to Clark happened to all the others who battled Carter in the preliminaries. Playing with the coolness and skill of a Vardon, the boy fought his way through to the finals. There he met John Ward, but by that time his stretch had been spent. Strenuous work such as had been called upon to perform during the early part of that tournament, sapped his endurance.

Ward played a tired worn-out littler shaver in that final round and he beat him out only after he had been forced to call to his aid his golfing ability that he possessed.

That was the beginning of Young Carter's national fame as a golfer. Some who heard the story of his accomplishments at Shinnecock were inclined to call it "a flash in the pan." But Carter's work since then has been increasingly brilliant. He has displayed greater ability in each new match and although he ranks today as one of the best golfers in America he is far from the zenith of his power.

The remarkable thing about Carter's golfing is that he has fingers stiffer than 99 per cent of the men who play the game. The longer the fingers the better grip a man can get on a driver or midiron. But Carter's fingers are so short he has difficulty in clasping them around the club. Such a condition is a tremendous handicap, yet Carter has risen to the heights despite it.

His String of Victories.
Carter was runner-up in the Junior Metropolitan in 1912 and won the championship in 1913, 1914 and 1915. He met Max Marston, the New Jersey star last fall and beat him at the 20th hole, after a sensational rally. In 1912 and 1914 he was victor in the Inter-Scholastic tournament and also won the National Club's championship at Southampton, over one of the hardest courses in the east.

Carter has wonderful driving power in his shoulders, and his timing is almost perfect. He plays iron shots better than the majority of veterans and is a wonder on the green. He has a steady eye and swings absolutely nerveless. He rarely fumbles. Whether he is 6 or 16, no one ever makes the slightest mistake to him. He always plays with the same steadiness—the same coolness.

Carter probably will enter the big link battles this summer. If he does, there'll be a few additions to the trophies in the Carter home at the present time.

Eiderdown.
Eiderdown is one of the poorest conductors of heat, hence its use as a bed covering.

WILL DISREGARD TIPS Player Misunderstood Winks of Opposing Pitcher.

With the Bases Full, Batter Imagines That Next Ball Will Be a Fast One—it Was a Curve and He Missed it a Yard.

Any player who expects that another man will hand him anything in a ball game just because they happen to be friendly while off the field is crazy, according to Manager Jennings. Hughie believes that no matter how strong the ties of affection may be they will not stand the test of placing Damon and Pythias on opposite sides in the national game and expecting them to help each other. He tells a story to illustrate his point.

"There was a certain pitcher in the National league at one time who had a peculiar nervous affection of the facial muscles that made him appear to be winking all the time. I will not mention his name because he may be sensitive about this affliction, if you'd call it that. One day he was pitching a tough game when one of his chums, who happened to be with the other club at that time, came to bat in a pinch.

"The count had arrived at a point where the batter was in a hole, when he noticed the pitcher apparently winking at him.

"'Aha,' he said to himself. 'He is tipping me the wink that the old fast one is coming because he doesn't want to see me fall down with the bases filled. I'll just get a toe hold and bust this one a mile.'

"Acting accordingly, he took a lunge at the next pitch, and, as it happened to be a curve ball, he missed it about a yard. As he went out to his position he walked up to the pitcher and said very much in earnest:

"'Hereafter, Frank, never mind about tipping me off. I can do better when I use my own judgment.'

SCHULTE HAS UNIQUE RECORD
Veteran Chicago Outfielder Has Been Banished From Game but Once in Ten Years.

Frank Schulte, the veteran Chicago outfielder, has a unique record in baseball. He has only been put out of the game by an umpire once in ten years. Schulte would not have been banished then except for the fact that Umpire Finneran misunderstood him. The incident occurred in 1912.

Schulte was at bat, facing a situation where he was supposed to hit at any ball that came within reach. He fouled off two and was in the hole.

The pitcher then served up a sharp breaking curve, and he let it go by for the third strike.

Frank was so mad at himself that he pounded on the plate with his bat, breaking it in two. Umpire Finneran thought Schulte was trying to indicate that he had called a bad third strike, and put him out of the game.

CONFIDENCE IS GREAT ASSET
Texas Giant Discovered in Training Camp Who Has All Earmarks of Major League Pitcher.

Confidence sometimes counts for a lot. In the first baseball game of the season in the training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals the San Antonio Bronchos whitewashed the Cardinals, and incidentally discovered a Texas giant who has all the earmarks of a great pitcher.

"I can pitch as good as any of those guys out there," said Stair, a young Hercules from Luling, Tex., who had applied to Manager Leidy for a job with the Bronchos.

"You'd better withdraw your application, if you feel that way about it," Leidy retorted.

"Honest, I mean it. Give me a trial," persisted the lanky Luling youth.

Put on the mound, Stair created a sensation, striking out the Cardinals right and left, and allowing only one scratch hit in the four innings he was permitted to pitch.

Victimized.
First City Man—"How are you coming along with your poultry venture?" Second Ditto—"I've been swindled. I bought three different incubators, and not one of them has laid an egg yet."

CATERPILLAR EGG CONTEST CLOSING

A final effort is being made this week throughout the county in the tent caterpillar egg gathering contest as the contest closes on Friday, April 14. The pupils of the country schools have gathered an unusually large number this year and the efforts of last year will undoubtedly be outdone when the final count is taken. Last year over thirty bushels of eggs were gathered by the school children.

A new plan was put into effect this year when the eggs were taken to the school houses of the district and the eggs counted with the teacher of the school as judge. Last season the eggs were brought to the office of the Farm Bureau, where they were counted.

The prize winners will be announced as soon as the results have been secured and the prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be awarded to the winners and such other special prizes as may have been voted in certain districts by granges or individuals who have taken a hand in the matter to encourage the children in controlling this pest.

This year a special effort has been made to interest the city schools and it is hoped that when the returns have been received the children of the city schools will be among the winners of the contest.

From the Sunny South.

Miss Stokes, who has been spending the past four months at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, has returned to the home of her sister, Mrs. Abbie Shultis, of No. 152 Henry street. Fort Lauderdale is situated on the New River, one and a half miles from Ocean Beach, and is an ideal place to spend the winter. There are many fine roads there, the temperature ranges from 70 to 80 degrees and usually there is a cool breeze. There were plenty of flowers, fruit and vegetables growing during the winter and the climate and general conditions were similar to conditions in the north during June and July.
